PURCHASING POWER OF DOLLAR GROWS; TRADE INCREASES

Prices Of Commodities Show Decreases In Last Month

BUSINESS GOOD

Wheels Are Humming In America, Says Report Of Federal Reserve Board

BY W. H. ATKINS

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Because of a general decline in the prices of a large number of commodities, the purchasing power of the American dollar is now two cents more than it was a month ago, the federal reserve board announced today in making public an optimistic review of general business conditions in the United States.

Continued heavy production of basic materials along with full employment and good wages for labor were cited as outstanding features in the favorable industrial situation.

Buying strength of American people is now being exerted at maximum despite the seasonal changes. Production and shipment of goods by factories continue in easy volume throughout the United States. Labor of all kinds is finding employment. Some industries are granted wage increases in the general demand for labor. Larger demand for goods has resulted in steady increase in the size of payrolls among some lines of industrial establishments. Wage advances were most general in the cotton, steel, meat packing, and sugar refining industries. The board's reports showed here is a shortage of farm labor. Agriculture the condition of winter and spring wheat is less favorable than a year ago. The cotton crop is in better condition owing to more favorable growing conditions in Texas.

Heavy purchasing of goods is indicated by reports of manufacturers and by the heavy movement of merchandise and freight reported by the railroads. Loadings of freight on railroads exceed all other records for this season of the year. Both retail and wholesale trade is in larger volume than last month. Wholesale export larger sales of meat, hardware and shoes. Sales of clothing and dry goods decreased.

A feature of the general prosperity prevailing is an increase of 18,600,000 in the volume of money in circulation. The increase principally in gold and silver certificates.

Bank loans in principal cities have been increasing since early in the year, declined sharply last month.

RAWLINS, Wyo., June 27.—President Harding has become a total abstainer. He meant literally the speech he delivered at Denver appealing to the people of America to give up strong drink even tho their stocks were fully acquired before the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act were adopted. Mr. Harding, it was learned today, feels very deeply that as chief executive of the nation he should set an example of restraint, although there is no law against drinking liquor one has legally acquired and Mr. Harding violated no law in taking an occasional drink in the white house.

It has become known that in the last several months the president has refused gifts from close personal friends and has told them he meant to conform to the implications of the law as well as its specific obligations. Since the Harding administration began no liquor has ever been served at the table for official guests. There has been some gossip that personal friends would drop in at the whitehouse, or meet the president at the golf links and offer a drink from a flask very much as might happen in the offices of senators and representatives, but while Mr. Harding has since early March days enjoyed a sociable drink, he has had no regrets about practicing self-denial for he believes the

CHURCH BECOMES LOVERS' PARADISE

But It's Short Lived—Pastor Nails Up Doors and Tells Police Department

LIMA, Ohio, June 27.—The boy in the front pew—right down where the sawdust trail ends—had his arm around his best girl. He was whispering "sweet nothings" into her ear. She—being young—believed them.

Seven pews back, on the right-hand side, a rich young baritone voice—at's owner hidden in the gloom—was saying: "You're the only girl I ever loved." There was a soprano answer: "Really, George?" A long pause. Then a resounding kiss.

In the dim, shadowy recesses of the Biederwolf Tabernacle there were rustling movements, sighs, whispered words and now and then a plainly audible osculation. And then—

Neighbors called Rev. W. H. Howard, pastor of the First United Brethren Church, who phoned the police, complaining that the tabernacle—empty since last Winter's big revival—was being turned into the world's largest "spoony parlour"—all under one roof, with 7,000 capacity.

Donning the ministerial overalls, Rev. Howard sallied forth, with his trusty hammer and a pocketful of nails. When he finished every entrance to the tabernacle was nailed tight.

Faust Park custodians have dusted off the park benches and are anticipating a return of "capacities" now that the rival love-making establishment has been closed. Chief of Police Lanker has promised that only law violators will be routed from the park. A storm of protest thwarted him from enforcing his order that the park be closed at 8:30 each night. Under the new ruling a little harmless spooning will be permitted, Chief Lanker said.

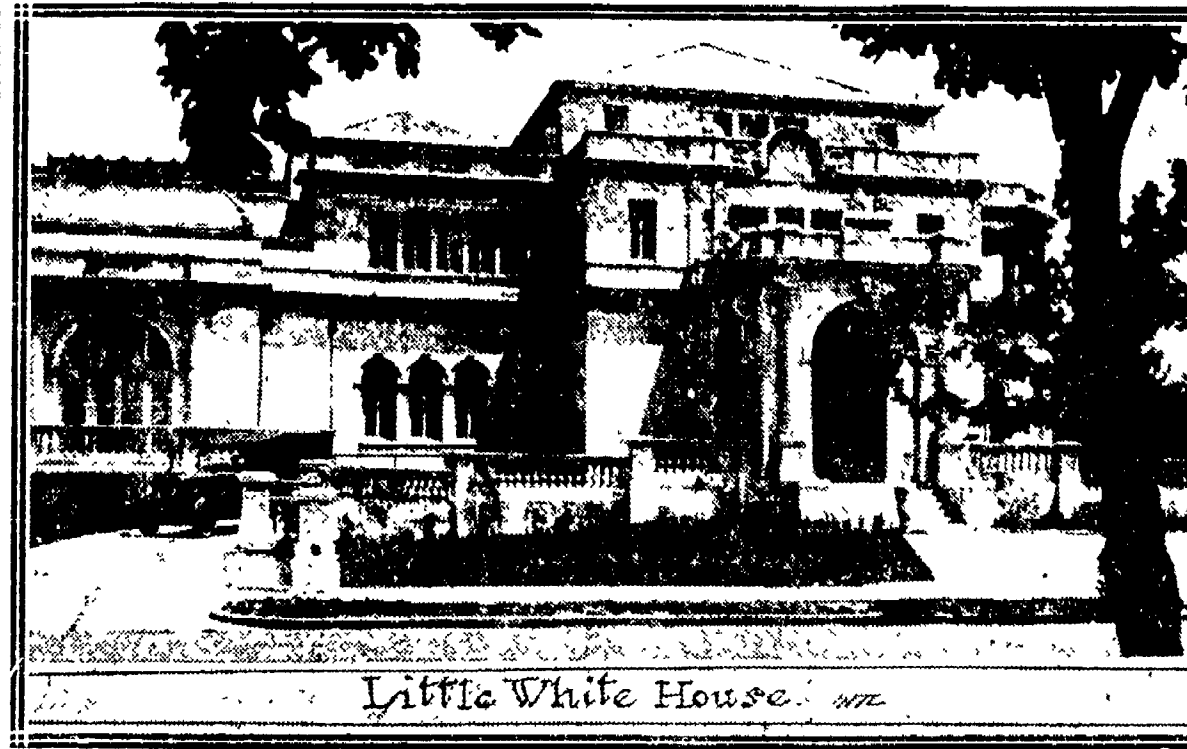

And Love reigns supreme at Faust Park.

Sentiment in Favor of Dry Japan Grows

Possibility of Prohibition, Once Laughed At, Now Looms As Reality

By DUKE N. PARRY.

TOKIO, June 27.—Possibility of prohibition in Japan, laughed at not so long ago, now bids fair to become a reality.

Extension of efforts of American "drys" into Japan was cause for jest among tourists visiting Nippon two years ago. Today, with the first temperance legislation ever passed there on the statute books—and being enforced—and with a Prince Regent ruling the Empire who neither smokes nor drinks (a complete reversal of custom on the part of a Japanese Monarch), workers for prohibition in Japan have cause for exultation.

It is a matter of record that more than $30,000 is spent annually here for the spread of the prohibition idea and that 236 different branches of a central prohibition organization have enrolled 117,892 "dry" workers. Anti-liquor advocates in the United States could indeed claim a notable victory if their colleagues, sent into Japan, should bring about an end of the liquor business here.

Prohibition agitation in Japan today is the outgrowth of the visit of a group of American women to this country thirty-six years ago to "kindle the temperance fire in the Empire of Japan."

The entering wedge for prohibition has been the placing on the statute books of the Empire of a law which follows that in America.

LONDON CLEANEST CITY MORALLY IN EUROPE, IS CLAIM

Head of Women Police Says Licensing Vice Is Grave Mistake

WILL VISIT U. S.

By LUTHER A. HUSTON.

LONDON, June 27.—London is the cleanest city, morally in Europe, declared commandant Mary S. Allen of the London women's police in an exclusive interview with the L. N. S. today. She said the most disturbing thing about crime conditions in London, is the large number of attacks on women and children. Crimes of this sort, she believes are more prevalent here than in any other large city.

Commandant Allen revealed her intention of visiting the United States in October to make a study of police conditions in all the large cities. She has already made extensive observations in Paris, Vienna, Berlin, Brussels and Cologne.

"We have far less flagrant immorality in London than in the big cities on the continent," she said. "Of course, I do not know what conditions are in America, for I have never been there, but I am looking forward to my visit in hope of ob-

ABSENCE OF LOCAL OFFICIAL WORRIES WIFE, ILL AT HOME

Frank Dinsmore, deputy game warden for this district, was working as constable out of Squire D. W. Bassett's court Wednesday in the absence of Constable Ira Seward, whose whereabouts was apparently unknown.

According to Squire Bassett, Seward moved his bookcase and other belongings from the justice's offices last week, and has not been seen since.

Mrs. Seward said that her husband had left home early Monday morning, telling her that he was going to Toledo for a few days on business. He expected to be home Tuesday evening, Mrs. Seward said. He told her, but asked her not to worry if he did not return until later.

When interviewed Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Seward was lying in her bed, suffering from a nervous disorder from which she has been ill for some time. Asked concerning her husband's whereabouts she replied that she didn't know where he was, and then broke into tears, saying that she had heard an "awful report" about him.

She said that she had heard that her husband had left town with another woman, Mrs. Linnie Shryock. She said that she didn't believe the report, but added that her husband's continued absence worried her. Mrs. Shryock is supposed to have sold her property on east Vine-st for $4,900 and bought an automobile in which she and Seward and closed, according to the story heard by Mrs. Seward. Where the report originated was unknown to Mrs. Seward.

She said her husband was driving a used Liberty car Sunday evening, and that he showed her a receipt for $400, the purchase price of the machine. He took her and their daughter Daisy riding in the automobile Sunday evening.

Monday morning she prepared breakfast for her husband, and as he stood in getting ready for his trip, she said, He took no extra clothes, she said, and was in no way prepared for a trip of any length as far as the law.

She did not decide Wednesday afternoon whether or not to take any steps toward locating her husband. She intimated that she would wait until the truth of the rumor that he had eloped with another woman has been established before she would take any action. Because of the domestic harmony existing in the home at 442 east Main-st, she was loathe to believe the report, and expressed confidence that the rumor would prove to be false, and that her husband would return.

On the Place des Etats-Unis, a little spot of America in Paris, will be dedicated a monument to these men, "to show the United States that France's recognition of America's volunteers is just as sincere as America's recognition of Lafayette and his soldiers."

Many of the volunteers died for France. Their names will be chiseled on the base of the monument. Among others, the following names will be inscribed—Allan

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE AT PARK, JOHNS ANNOUNCES

Additions to Grand Stand and Bathing Pier Are Planned

Manager "Dick" Johns of Lake Park announced Wednesday that there would be many improvements at Lake Park by Sunday and still more by the Fourth of July.

There will be a 36-foot addition to the bath house at the lake including private lockers for women bathers. A long pier for women bathers from the bath house out into the lake will soon be completed, probably by Sunday. A diving board for women bathers will be erected by Sunday also, was the report.

Manager Johns also stated that the additional grandstand at the ball diamond would be erected in time for this evening's game when the Elks and Bloomer girls clash. The game is called at 5:30 p. m.

The attraction at Lake Park Sunday and July Fourth will be the fast Eastern Ohio League game between Canton and Coshocton. Coshocton is leading the Neakers by a small margin.

All new improvements will be in readiness not later than July 4, was the report Wednesday.

Colored Slayer Of A Cleveland Policeman Is Taken From Lumber Yard Job by Dozen Detectives After a Search of Nation for Six Weeks—Declares Victim Shot Himself in Scuffle

CLEVELAND, June 27.—Immediate trial of John Leonard Whitfield, 40, alleged slayer of Patrolman Dennis Griffin, of Cleveland, on May 11, on an indictment charging first degree murder, was promised today by Prosecuting Attorney Edward Stanton.

The prosecutor was conferring with Presiding Judge Morris Beron of the criminal branch of common pleas court, for a special term.

Stanton said that the police and prosecutor's office are ready with the evidence and within a few days preparations will be completed for the hearing.

While it was understood from Detroit that Whitfield waived extradition proceedings, the prosecutor declared the state would go thru the regular legal channels that there might be no loopholes for an appeal of the case.

However, it was stated, Whitfield will be returned to Cuyahoga immediately, probably late today.

The authorities had an offer from an aerial navigation company to bring back the fugitive and his guards by airplane.

Evidence to be presented against Whitfield, will trace his actions from the time he was put under arrest May 11, by Griffin and another patrolman, until he was captured in Detroit. The police claim they have a woman who will identify Whitfield as having borrowed a shovel near the place where the body was found.

A witness who is said to have seen Whitfield speeding in the car with Griffin's body will also be produced.

Whether Whitfield's wife will testify against him has not been learned. She remarked today she had hoped Whitfield would not be captured but would die a natural death.

PARIS SAILS WITH 12,000 PINTS OF WINE ON BOARD

NEW YORK, June 27.—Technically "bone dry" but actually carrying 12,000 pints of wines and liquors, the French liner Paris sailed today.

The 12,000 pints of wine were passed by Dr. E. K. Sprague, head of the United States public health service here as "medicinal supplies." Eight thousand of the pints of assorted drinks were crew wine and will not find their way to passengers, the captain and purser assured port authorities.

If the passengers get a drink it will be on signal order of the ship's doctor that they require it for their health's sake. Customs officers and prohibition agents yesterday poured 145 cases and 345 bottles of the Paris' beer into the river. This was considered cheaper than hauling and storing it.

The Tugboat of the Anchor Line was today to be visited by officers and men liquor removed as Dr. Sprague directs.

MERGER RULING TO LEAD TO FURTHER CONSOLIDATIONS

Eventually U. S. Rail Lines Will Be Joined Into Few Systems

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, June 25 — A legal pathway for the consolidation of American railroads into a few great systems has been opened by action of the interstate commerce commission in giving nominal approval of the Van Swearingen merger of five mid-western carriers, government officials declared here today.

Their combined capital is $105,500,000, the merger being approved by authorization for issuance of this capital stock.

While the Harding administration and numerous rail executives favor mergers in the interest of economy, a number of railroads are known to oppose consolidations. These are the carriers, known as "paying roads," which are proposed to be merged with systems known as "losing roads."

The commission however, favor the Van Swearingen merger because it "proposed plans for effecting economy and efficiency in management and operation and in rendering important service to the public by means of the consolidation."

The commission declared the merger would result in better service to the public.

PERSHING EVOLVES DEFENSE PLAN FOR THE UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, June 26 — A plan for American mobilization and defense has been perfected by General John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the army, which "assures the impregnability of the continental United States in the event of attack by any possible hostile combination," it was learned here today.

This plan, approved by Secretary of War Weeks, will be ready to be put into execution with the completion of this summer's training of national guardsmen and civilians at the summer camps.

General Pershing's defense project provides for complete protection of the American coasts and border frontiers, and there is no possible landing point or line of advance that has been overlooked.

All troops with special units of the organized reserve have been assigned to defense of specific sectors of the coast and border lines, transportation conditions have been studied carefully in order that there will be no delay in rushing the troops to their positions, and every eventuality has been met in detailed manner.

One of the most unique features of the Pershing plan is in connection with the coastal defense. It is planned and has been proven practical to lay down a barbed wire barricade in the surf to assist in the repulsion and confusion of attempted landing parties. Should it become necessary, a wire entanglement similar to those employed on the battle fields of France could be thrown up around virtually the entire country.

GOV'T STEPS IN TO CHECK EVASION OF DRY SHIP RULING

Ship Commanders
Must Declare Requirements for Medical Purposes

BY H. K. REYNOLDS

WASHINGTON, June 26. — To expedite the seizure of beverage liquor being brot into New York and other American ports in violation of the national prohibition act, officers of the United Public health service today received orders to obtain sworn statements from commanders of ships as to the medicinal liquor requirements of their respective countries.

These new instructions were required, according to Dr. Mark White, acting surgeon general of the public health service because of difficulties locally at New York of prescribing the exact amount of liquor stores which vessels may retain for medicinal purposes. The rule laid down by Secretary Mellon was that the law of the home country of the ship should apply, but trouble arose when Dr. E. K. Sprague, chief health officer at New York and other authorities could not obtain official copies of the foreign laws.

The problem was solved in one case at New York when the captain of a liquor carrier was required to make affidavit of his understanding of the law in his own country. This procedure was approved today by the treasury department and has now been made applicable to all ports. This difficulty eliminated, treasury officials today said they could see no reason why the liquor seizures should not continue in an orderly manner.

The first official announcement that foreign ships from which liquor has been removed in American ports will not be seized, although the government has this authority under the Volstead act, was made this afternoon by Commissioner Haynes who has just returned from New York.

In explanation of this decision, Haynes gave two reasons—

First—The question involved concerning the liquor is whether they may, as claimed by the foreign vessels, be used for medicinal purposes, and they are brot into our waters with an avowed purpose to test the question legally, and for this purpose the presence of the subject matter of dispute only, to wit, the liquors, is required.

Second—Because of the delicacy involved, it being the purpose of the department to proceed in a unobtrusive manner as is consistent with a proper enforcement of the law and avoid complications that might possibly be of a serious nature.

Prohibition authorities at New York and other ports will be given special instructions to take every precaution in guarding the liquor seized from foreign ships. Treasury department officials face serious complications if any of this liquor disappears pending any legal action resulting from the efforts of the government to enforce the law.

WARD CABLEGRAMS MAY BE SHOWN TO JURY, COURT RULES

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 26

The mysterious cablegrams said by the state to contain clues which reveal a motive for the killing of Clarence Peters, former marine, by Walter S. Ward, may be shown to the extraordinary jury. Justice Waggener ruled the cablegrams as admissible evidence today, reserving, however, the possibility that they may have no bearing on the case. In this event, they will not be shown to the jury.

Justice Waggener will decide after reading the cables. They were sent by Ralph, a brother of Walter to their father who was then in Europe. They are said to contain evidences of a claim by young Ward of a blackmail plot.

Drive it Home! Your Motor MUST Have Proper Lubrication.

YOU have heard it before—but you can't hear it too often: Drain the crank-case of your motor at least every 500 miles. If you will do this job religiously you will vastly prolong the life of your car and you will get fuller measure of satisfaction every mile you drive.

Many motorists have found it a good plan to drain the thin, worn-out, "lifeless" oil out of the crank-case when their speedometer registers at the 500 or 1000 mile mark. Then it is easy to remember when to put in a new supply. The speedometer becomes more or less of an "alarm clock"—whose signal is well worth heeding. Motorists who use do not run as much risk through tardy changing of the crank-case supply as those who do not discriminate in their lubricant purchases.

Public Service Oils—like Public Service Gasoline—are matchless in quality. Every day, every drop, absolutely the best produced.

At high speed of your motor—under terrific heat—Public Service Oils form a perfect, unbroken film that eliminates friction. Far beyond the point where other oils break down and fail to lubricate, Public Service Oils stay on the job and ward off the destructive action of metal against metal. You get vastly better lubrication and much longer service from every drop of Public Service Oil that goes into your motor.

Joint-Ease for Burning Feet

Now that we know that aching, burning feet are caused by trouble in the small bones in the arches of the feet—

And that trouble can only be reached by Joint-Ease, a stainless emollient that soaks right in through skin and flesh direct to the joints and ligaments.

Isn't it about time to discard powders and medicated baths that only reach the outside of the skin?

And rub on Joint-Ease, that in two minutes starts to soothe and heal the inside troubles that cause soreness and burning.

Rub it on tonight and if there is any burning left in the morning, it won't be enough to bother. All druggists. A tube, 60 cents. Wimmer Arnold Co.

SULPHUR CLEARS UP ROUGH OR RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe the irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly comes. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swigert have a hen that flies into a tree to lay her eggs, letting them fall to the ground below to be broken or not as the case may be. Mr. Swigert's father prepared a box filled with straw and fastened it to the branch where the hen was accustomed to lay. She went into it, scratched at the straw, and chose another limb to lay on, or rather from. She made up her mind to sit one day, and chose her place in the tree, and clucked and scolded from her perch. That hen, without the instincts of a bird, must consider herself a most peculiar one. Just now she is shut up in a coop, the object being to break her from sitting and from her arboreal proclivities. Just think what the chickens she would hatch might do.

DEMPSEY-GIBBONS FIGHT IS OFF UNLESS PROMOTERS ARE ABLE TO RAISE MORE MONEY

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 27.—The fate of the Dempsey-Gibbons battle lies in the hands of Jack Kearns.

Kearns is in the mood to act as its executioner.

Unless Kearns relents—unless the manager of the world's champion is willing to send his man into conflict with Tom Gibbons for a gross $200,000, then it's 50 to 15 the fight must be called off.

For it seems almost humanly impossible for the promoters to sell enough tickets between now and July 4th to raise nearly $200,000 in cash which will be needed by that date. The situation is desperate. If the fight were a certainty, then the public might step in and buy tickets to the tune of $200,000 by that date.

But affairs are so badly messed that ticket sales almost have ceased. No one wants to invest $50 in a fight ticket and not merely be deprived of seeing the fight, but also run the risk of total loss of the $50.

Never was anything so badly jammed up in fight history as this Shelby affair.

Concretely this is the plight: Between now and next Monday the promoters must raise money for the following payments: $50,000 to be returned to those in Shelby and Great Falls who loaned that sum to make up the second payment for Dempsey's end; $100,000 perhaps a few thousands more, to pay the arena costs, $25,000 for incidental expenses, $100,000 to pay for Dempsey's third payment.

Towards this sum the promoters have perhaps $25,000.

If they could borrow $100,000 for Kearns, they could go thru with the fight because then, with the affair assured, ticket sales then could take care of loan repayment, arena building costs and outside expenses. But there's no one willing to make the loan. And that's because the men behind it seemed to have "hooked" everything they can "hook"—and $100,000 loans are not made thru kindness in these days.

RED MEN SPURT AWAY AHEAD IN FRATERNAL RACE

The Red Men retained their grip on the pole position in the Fraternal League by defeating the Odd Fellows Tuesday on Red Sea diamond by a score of 5 to 3.

The Odd Fellows garnered two runs in the opening of the game. The Pow Wows came back in their half of the first frame with two scores. The Indians made another in their half of the second and two more in the last of the fourth.

The L. O. O. F. collected one score in their last chance at bat.

Jimmy Laird welded the hickory in the second inning for a home run. The ball went to deep right. The outfielder threw the ball to third base in an effort to catch Jim, but the warrior kept right on rambling. The ball went wild over Hall's head at third.

The Red Men connected for six hits from the offerings of Cramblett, Rodman for the Warriors, allowed five safeties.

There is no Fraternal League game scheduled at Red Sea park this evening on account of the Elks American Athletic Bloomer Girls game at Lake Park.

The Elks and the American Legion game is scheduled for Friday evening at Red Sea.

SOCIETY
Call Phone 205

One of the loveliest social functions to take place this season at the Town and Country club was the 6 o'clock dinner party given by Miss Mayme Mullett, 354 Hamilton-av. Tuesday evening. The affair was arranged as a pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Louise Baughman, whose marriage to Clancy Edwin Parker, of Bellefontaine, takes place August 9.

A profusion of yellow cut flowers and quantities of greenery were arranged in every available space about the club house and spacious veranda, and assisted in carrying out the decorative color scheme of yellow and green. In the ball room, where the delicious four course dinner was served by the club matron, Mrs. Kaderley, and her assistant, one long table was artistically trimmed, with covers being laid for 20. Centering the table was a huge bouquet of sunburst roses, while sprigs of greenery were used throughout the table length. Dainty baskets, fashioned of yellow crepe paper, filled with nuts, were given as favors. Appropriate miniature brides, wearing tulle veils and orange blossom bouquets, assisted the guests in finding their places.

A delightful feature of the party was the surprise miscellaneous shower planned by the hostesses. Little Rosemary Norris, cunningly dressed as a bride in a fetching white organdie dress and long tulle veil caught with orange blossoms, appeared to Miss Baughman following the dinner, and presented her with a bunch of sunburst roses, announcing that the fairies were sending her a gift. A large basket, attractively made of green crepe paper with small yellow flowers for trimming, holding many useful presents, was presented to Miss Baughman.

Besides the guest of honor, those present were: Miss Mary Wolford, Miss Ruth Parrish, Miss Clyde Woodward, Miss Josephine Baughman, sister of the bride-elect, Miss Elizabeth Lee and house guest, Miss Blanche Hornbeck, of Corry, Pa., Miss Frieda Erlanson, Miss Carrie B. Glass, Miss Mary Elizabeth Stewart, Miss Lois Miller, Miss Beulah Marchant, Miss Nell Parrish, Miss Arabelle Gault, Miss Anna McCabe, Miss Lucille Shaffer, Miss Gladys Miller, Miss Marnie Hay and the hostess.

Feting Miss Baughman, Miss Carrie B. Glass, Miss Lucille Shaffer and Miss Frieda Erlanson, will entertain with a dinner at the club, Monday evening, at 6 o'clock.

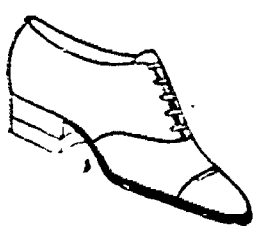

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sells, 332 Walnut-st., and Mrs. Edward Cooper, 631 Orange-st., left Wednesday for Cleveland where they will join Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Clifton, and daughter Miss Ena and Miss Mattie Cooper, accompanying them to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N. Y., on a trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Randles, Coshocton Route 5, entertained at Sunday dinner in their home for the pleasure of the following guests: Mrs. Daniel Miller, Miss Fern Miller and Gene Hanson, of Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thorns.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS

Because of the extreme heat and the vacation days which take so many of our most interested persons from out of the city, the committee has called off the membership dinner, scheduled for Friday evening, in the Park hotel. Those having already purchased tickets may get their money refunded by returning same at the Y. W. rooms.

The Y. W. C. A. rooms will be open Sunday afternoon, as usual, between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock. Drop in for a rest while out walking.

Members of the Board will keep in mind their meeting for Thursday evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

The first three weeks in July will find Camp Netawa all filled. If you are planning on spending all or a part of your vacation days at camp, or probably having a week end party or even a holiday dinner there, please phone or call Miss Reed or Miss Woodward at the rooms as all reservations MUST be made thru them. It's so cool and quiet and comfortable there, an ideal spot for an outing or restful vacation. We feel quite fortunate in being able to offer to the women

OUT OF TOWN WOMEN AND GIRLS ELIGIBLE TO WOMAN'S INTERNATIONAL MOVEMENT

"Where do you live?" is no longer an essential part of a W. Y. C. A. membership questionnaire. Corresponding membership for out of town girls and women who live in remote and isolated districts away from the 652 associations are now invited to take their part in the national and international woman's movement.

This innovation made possible by action of the last convention in session, emphasizes the Association as a national body of women and girls.

"Upon the problems of the day we need the contribution, the ideals and united power of these new corresponding members who live outside of personal touch with the organization," said Miss Mildred Corbett yesterday. "Many women living out of touch with things, geographically speaking, yearn to identify themselves with some movement outside of their immediate environment. They wish to feel linked with the outside world. They have much to give such a movement for its growth and development."

Within the next few days the first letters of invitation will be mailed to former members. The new membership, however, is open to any woman or girl in sympathy with the Association's economic, religious and social activities and progress. Included in the membership is a subscription to the Woman's Press, the official Y. W. C. A. organ. A wealth of printed material is obtainable at headquarters, and frequent personal correspondence is invited. The new members will be warmly welcomed at conferences and conventions. Mrs. William Edwin Speers is Chairman. Miss Mildred Corbett is Secretary.

Slightly higher on the monument is represented the figure of Humanity, before whom a French polu and an American soldier are cordially grasping hands, symbolizing the perfect union of the two realized at the front.

Surmounting the whole is the statue of an American—the likeness of the soldier-poet, Allan Seeger—dressed in a French uniform and beckoning to his countrymen.

The Best Medicine For Women

When Mr. Myers of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, stepped into the drug store and asked his druggist for the best medicine he had in his store for woman's ills, is it any wonder he was handed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Mrs. L. K. Myers in writing of it says: "I had a pain in my left side for a long time, so I could not do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me in a short time so I was able to do all of my house work including washing and ironing, and now I feel fine all the time." As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for benefiting 98 women out of every 100 women who take it, it will pay every suffering woman to try it.

trymen to join him in helping France.

The monument is the work of the noted French sculptor, Jean Boucher who came in contact with the American volunteers when he, too, was at the front during the war.

Three years of work in gathering subscriptions to the total of 400,000 francs are represented in the monument. Only strictly French subscriptions were accepted, and several large sums given by Americans were returned to their donors.

Soldiers, sailors, school children, poor war widows, thousands of persons collaborated, giving at least one or two sous each, if they were unable to give more.

Complete lists of the subscribers will be sent to United States Government officials, chiefly President Harding, and one official list will be sealed up in a special cavity reserved for the purpose in the monument.

Such military celebrities as Foch, Joffre, Petain, Mangin and Weyand were associated actively with the committees in charge of the monument project. President Millerand, Premier Poincare, former Premier Clemenceau and Ambassador Jusserand were represented on the honorary committees.

Ambassador Myron T. Herrick will represent the United States at the dedication exercises on the Fourth of July. France will be represented by her highest Government officials. Hereafter the monument will be the centre of a patriotic demonstration every Fourth of July.

NEW YORK, June 27—Ambassador Sir Auckland Geddes is ill and came from Washington in a private car attended by physicians and nurses, and sailed Tuesday afternoon on the Berengaria for England.

It is understood his ailment is yielding to treatment. His secretary said that Sir Auckland believed a long rest would restore his health, and that he intends to return to Washington in about three months.

The Berengaria flew the ambassador's flag and was greeted with a salute from an American war ship fleet as she departed.

GOOD LOOKS GOOD HEALTH

WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND—that's the answer. Some of you ladies who read this may have complexion disfigured by liver spots and discolorations. If this is the case, don't worry about it and don't use face lotions. Just go at once to Wimmer Arnold Co. and get a large bottle of WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, for only sixty cents. It will clear your complexion by helping to drive from your system the poisonous uric acid that is affecting your liver, stomach and kidneys. A poor, rough, mottled skin isn't due to the sun or weather, but to an upset condition which uric acid usually causes. Go to the root of the trouble. Destroy that and your good looks and health will return.

WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, is a wonderful preparation for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, headache, rheumatism, malaria, nervousness, kidney troubles—when caused by uric acid poison. Remember, WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, is guaranteed by Wimmer Arnold Co. and dealers everywhere.

Beveridge Pounds Straw

NOW comes Albert J. Beveridge, that dashing son of Indiana, whose political comeback so early ran off the track, with another specious bit of buncombe about the International Court of Justice. At the Bunker Hill banquet of the Sons of the American Revolution in Boston he made the statement that if matters in dispute between Great Britain and the American colonies had been submitted to an international court America would still be a part of the British Empire.

As a matter of then existing law, he said, nearly every point "must and would have been decided against America; and even as a matter of equity, we would have been held in the wrong on important issues. For instance, the British Government, having defended the colonies against the French, it was only fair that the colonies should bear their just part of the expenses."

Mr. Beveridge is learned in the law and in the early history of our country. But why, in discussing the World Court, does he ignore facts governing its existence and its relation to its constituent nations? The court has nothing to do with the internal affairs of nations, and the rebellion of the colonists was a purely domestic British affair. The British recognized no federated colonial government and would not have treated with it any more than Lincoln would have treated with the Southern Confederacy.

Mr. Beveridge, therefore, is putting up a straw effigy of a thing which never existed in order to make an argument. That is not all. Even if the colonies had been recognized as an independent government prior to the Revolutionary War there is no statute or promise in connection with the International Court that would oblige a member to submit matters in dispute to the court. As a member we could take or leave its services. But if we should accept them it would be contemptible for a great nation of America's wealth and power not to participate in the expenses and selection of Judges of the court.

Cost Of Food Distribution

B. F. YOAKUM, in the New York Times, undertakes to say why the farmers are not sharing to a larger extent in the general prosperity.

For one thing, he points out, we have a 19,000,000 food-dealer population to a 33,500,000 farm population, or one food dealer to each one and three-fourths of the 6,500,000 farms, "too great a burden for any business to carry."

As to freight rates, the Market Commissioner of New York found last summer that on melons, for which the farmer got 6 cents each, the railroads got 18 cents for freight per melon. On cabbages, shipped from Texas to Chicago, the farmer received $7 per ton. The freight was $28 per ton, and $7 per ton for icing. If this is too high, says Mr. Yoakum, the Interstate Commerce Commission can reduce the rates.

But the main trouble lies in the marketing process, after the railroads deliver the food to the cities. The melon for which the farmer got 6 cents cost the city consumer $1.24. And the cabbages for which the farmer received $7 a ton cost the city consumer $140 per ton. There is a similar alarming increase in other food products, attributable to our unsystematized, unscientific and wasteful method of food distribution. At the one end, the producer, who labors long and arduously, taking all sorts of chances with the weather and insect plagues and blights, is discouraged at his meager return. At the other end, the consumer, alarmed at ever-rising prices, naturally but ineffectually protests, and wonders where the fault lies. And one result of this lack of system, lack of knowledge and lack of co-operation is that the cities are growing at the expense of the country.

The farmer could evidently double or triple his profit and still sell to the consumer at much lower figures than the consumer has to pay now, if the farmer used the business methods employed in other industries. He should stop looking to the middleman as his sole customer, and turn his attention directly to the consumer. In union with his fellows producing the same kind of product, he should advertise his wares and take steps thru his own representatives to put them into the hands of the producers. Until he does this, he will continue to be victimized. And if the farmer is to be saved financially, the business organizations in the cities should do their best to make him see the light.

France Must Yield

DISCUSSING reparations in his syndicated article last Sunday, Lloyd George asks: "Is it unreasonable to propose that this question, which involves the most searching examination into German assets, should be referred to a tribunal which would be capable of giving it calm and judicial consideration?" He goes on to show, lucidly and cogently, that not only is there nothing unreasonable in such a proposal but that in no other way can the question be settled.

Premier Poincare, however, objects to the plan. He says it is unnecessary. Further, he declares that the reparations claim of France is an irreducible minimum, subject neither to consideration nor compromise. He insists that Germany is able to pay the reparations bill as already rendered.

This is an indefensible position for France to take. England is frankly in favor of adopting the suggestion for a commission of experts, originally made by Secretary Hughes, to whom Germany has formally subscribed. It is a fair inference, too, that both Italy and Belgium indorse the plan, for of regard for French sensibilities, they are equally noncommittal. France, therefore, stands alone in her intransigence. It is a salient which, sooner or later, she must abandon. No nation can permanently defy the sentiment of the world as France is now doing.

It ought to be clear, too, that France would not fare badly at the hands of a competent commission. Her claim is not to be allowed, but there can be no question that a commission of experts would give France the benefit of expert advice. It is obvious, also, that the amount of reparations which the commission would fix would be based on the maximum of Germany's capacity to pay. It is not to be denied that the Bogan figures for the German population, from the findings of such a commission, there could be no appeal. Germany, no more than any other nation, is entitled to a fair trial. Germany is not to be allowed to get down to the grim business of paying reparations, which she could only do by regaining the world's confidence and re-establishing her credit. The good faith of Germany since the war has been

New York Day-by-Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 27. — "Throwing the bull" is likely to become more than a Broadway conversational diversion. Tex Rickard, prize fight promoter, is now at work on plans to introduce bull fighting to lovers of sport.

He has sent scouts to Spain to sign up a group of the most agile matadors and as soon as he is convinced there will be no legal interference the bull fight will be presented. The site will probably be at the famous Boyle Thirty Acres in Jersey.

Rickard has no intention of permitting the bloody cruelty of the Spanish arena. The spears are to be blunt and the horses are to be protected from cruel gashing so far as is possible. He is said to have the backing of several sportively inclined millionaires.

There is in New York at present on a visit a celebrated matador from Madrid. He is quite a conspicuous figure in the midnight dance places, and is adept at the tango. The ladies thrill to his grace and the halo of courage that enshrouds him.

I met him recently and he is vigorous in his defense of the bull fight. It is his claim the bull suffers little pain and really enjoys the sanguine affair. "After all," he shrugged, "you kill thousands of steers here every day."

Tex Rickard has apparently exorcised himself from the scarlet web of scandal in which he was entangled. Very few believed the salacious tales about him and he has the entire confidence of his backers.

He has been a picturesque figure in the sporting world. He clings to the wide hat of the roaring camp days, is extremely taciturn and moves about glumly puffing at a heavy black cigar. He has very few intimates.

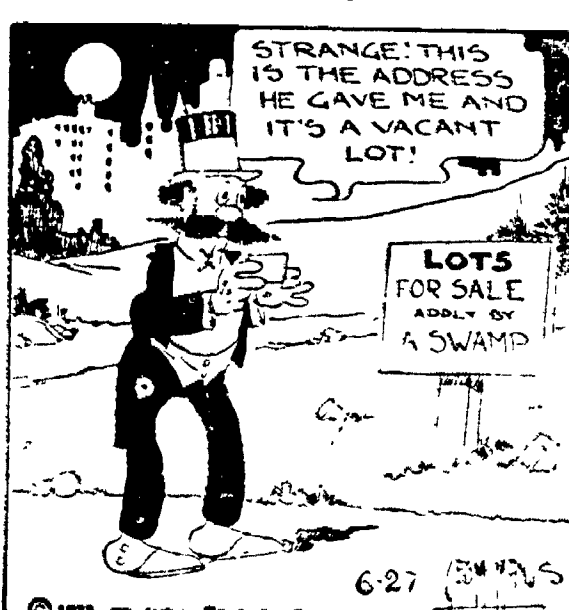

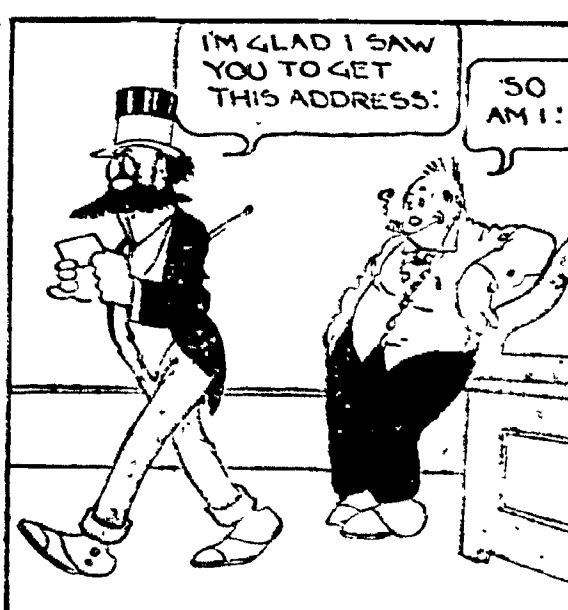

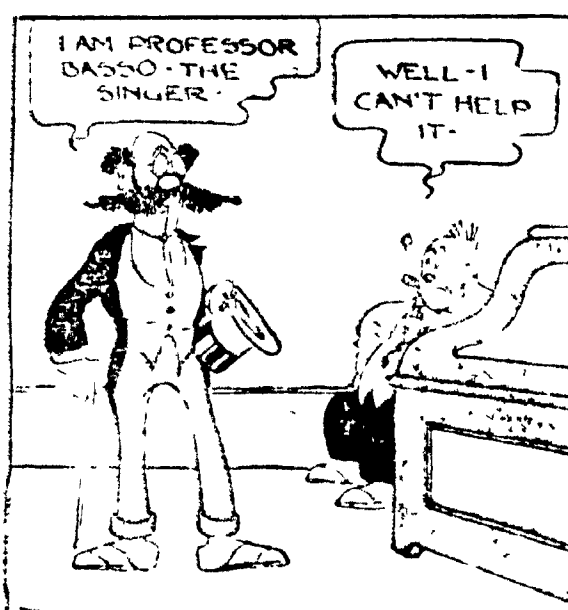

The famous old Moquin's cafe on Sixth Avenue is marching uptown with the business sweep. The place on Park Row was closed with the coming of prohibition but

PEOPLES' FORUM

Editor The Tribune:

My acquaintance with Henry Ford started back in 1916 when I bought my first second-hand Lizzy. This casual acquaintance soon ripened into friendship for hardly a day passed after that momentous transaction on which I did not call at one of Henry's garages in quest of information and parts. This longing for Henry eventually communicated itself to Lizzy also. The poor thing would stop automatically every time she saw a Ford sign.

At first this tendency aggravated me, but I soon learned that Lizzy had deeper knowledge of her anatomy than I had. In fact I cannot recall a single stoppage when the greasy youth presiding over the establishment did not detect the absence of some vital organ belonging to Lizzy.

In later years Lizzy also would stop, without apparent reason, in places far from the habitation of Ford mechanics. On such occasions I usually discovered a Ford part laying either in the road, on the side of the road or in a nearby cow lot. It seems that Lizzy was possessed of a sixth sense which kept her on the lookout for parts from which she anticipated to part in the rear future.

My earnings in those days went mostly to Henry. For myself I retained only enough to keep my body in sufficient trim to navigate Lizzy between Ford garages. Thus it came about that I soon acquired that deep affection for Henry which habitually-operated-on persons harbor for their favorite surgeon.

My admiration for Henry received another boost when he boosted the wages of his employees to $5 per day and at the same time reduced their hours of toil to eight.

In doing this he demonstrated to the world that a well-fed horse can run faster in eight hours than a half-starved brute can run in ten. I'm also stuck on the way in which Henry has reduced the complexity of life to a definite number of jerks, twists and turns. Once a Ford employee has learned the special spasm expected from him he can go through life without a single thought or emotion. When the whistle blows he starts his jerk and when the whistle blows again he stops jerking, and if that isn't simple life, what is?

I guess it is this childlike simplicity which induced Henry back in 1914 to hire a ship to get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas. Henry knew there was a nut loose somewhere so he gathered up some nuts and went over there to stop the rattle. He meant well and we ought not blame a man in times like that for mistaking a world war for a tin Lizzy.

For one thing we got to give

WALT MASON

PROSPERITY

Prosperity resplendent is with us once again; well-dressed and independent we find all busy men. There's work for every fellow, and wages by the ton; we hear employers bellow, "A job for every one!" The hammer and the chisel are busy every day, and he's a hopeless fizzle who loafs the hours away. The carpenter is carving, the barber wildly barbs, the farmer grows his yards. The publisher is printing his highly moral sheet—where'er we may be squinting, prosperity we meet. And now our skies are sunny, and fortune on us smiles, let us salt down some money in fair and decent piles. We had a lesson lately, when every one was rich, and we were earning greatly, but had the spend-thrift's itch. We all wore silks and satins, on luscious pies we fed, and scorned, as puffing fables the bankers' tales of dread. On all the trees around us we saw the money grow, and why should seers condemn us with tales of future woe? Ah, well, you all remember the frost that came one day, the bleakness of December suppressed the bloom of May. We soaked our silken singlets, our jeweled farthingales, and tore our beards and ringlets, and sent up heartick wails. Oh, nothing could be vainer than the side of the road or in a nearby cow lot. It seems that Lizzy was

There is just one thing where Henry and I are at outs. It hurts my feelings to hear him talk so mean about the Jews. Adam and Eve were both Jews and where would we be if it hadn't been for the good work of these brave pioneers of humanity?

Then there was Noah who built the Ark. Who but a long-headed Jew would have anticipated a deluge two months ahead and 5,000 years before the U. S. Weather Bureau was invented? And how about Moses who started the glorious habit of breaking the ten commandments? And didn't this same Moses lead the children of Israel out on strikes and finance the strike for forty years with jewelry borrowed from the Egyptian task (Continued on Page Seven)

CORNS
Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Henry credit, he tried to stop the world war after the psychological moment. There is no time like

Christmas for stopping wars between Christian nations. When the happy Yule Tide spirit is upon us and everybody recites "Peace on earth, good will to men," and sings "Stilly Night, Holy Night," it is the natural time to lay off killing. But those bloody fools over there wouldn't listen to

Henry, and when folks are gone so far they won't listen to the richest man on earth they are too blooming crazy to deserve to be saved. So I don't blame Henry when he got huffy and on his return manufactured bombs with which to blow the boys out of the trenches before another happy

Yule Tide rolled around.

PHONE STRIKE TIES UP COMMUNICATION IN NEW ENGLAND

BOSTON, Mass. June 27.—With a meeting today between the two rival telephone unions holding out the only apparent hope of an early settlement of the strike, telephone service throughout many sections of New England was still at a standstill or badly disrupted today.

In other sections the company had reestablished nearly normal service.

Massachusetts and Rhode Island were still the chief sufferers, while Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire incurred no serious hardship.

Today's meeting was called at the request of Miss Anna Molloy, president of Local No. 1 "A" for the purpose of patting up differences existing between that union and the telephone operators union of which Miss Julia O'Connor is international president. Miss Molloy is opposing the strike lead by Miss O'Connor.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Anna Comstock, a commissioner of conciliation was ordered to Massachusetts today by the department of labor to attempt a settlement of the telephone strike in the New England states.

John Colpy, another conciliator, will also be ordered to New England.

out the many things that have been accomplished by organized boosting for good roads in Knox-co., and expressed the opinion that equal results will be effected by Coshoc-ton-co's new organization.

No business was taken up at the meeting. It was held more than anything else, for the purpose of interesting rural residents in the movement, and pointing out to them the advantages to be derived from concerted effort in petitioning for improved roads.

Township chairmen have already been appointed, an dit is planned to organize a subordinate council in each township. The subordinate councils will draw up road improvement plans for their respective districts, and present them to the county council. The county council will consider all the programs, and decide upon roads that are most in need of improvement.

Petitions for the improvement will then be presented to the county commissioners thru the council with the approval of all members of the council.

By this plan, it is believed that the commissioners can be saved the irksome duty of listening to individual petitions for road improvements, and can concentrate on the petitions filed by the council, with the assurance that the improvement petitioned is agreeable to taxpayers representing all sections of the county.

An excellent banquet was served to the members of the council and their guests at eight o'clock Tuesday evening by the women of the Bethlehem range.

GENERAL MAY BE NEW AMBASSADOR

PARIS, June 25.—General Gourard, who won distinction in the World war, especially in the battles of the Argonne and Champagne, may succeed Jules Jusserand as French ambassador at Washington according to the Journal today.

Gen. Gourard will come to the United States later in the summer for a tour under the auspices of the Rainbow Division.

TRIAL OF WHITFIELD

Cleveland detectives arrested Whitfield last night at his work at the yards of the Terness Coal and Lumber Co., where he was employed as a barn foreman.

Extreme precautions were taken by the arresting officers to prevent Whitfield from duplicating his escape at Madison, Wis., where he pushed his captors from him and disappeared behind a passing street car.

The officers heavily armed surrounded the coal yards, cutting off Whitfield's chances of escape. As Whitfield left the barn a shotgun was thrust against his ribs and before he could offer resistance he was handcuffed.

At police headquarters Whitfield freely admitted that he was with Griffin when he was shot, but declared that Griffin shot himself in a struggle.

The capture in Detroit of John L. Whitfield, alleged slayer of Patrolman Dennis Griffin here May 11, was the climax of a sensational six weeks manhunt for Whitfield all over North America.

After the shooting of Griffin in Whitfield's automobile, as the pair were going to police station following the latter's arrest, Whitfield fled with his 14-year-old sweetheart, Marie Price, toward Canada.

Griffin's body was found in a lonely wood near Cleveland buried in a shallow grave. Nearby were the charred remains of his cap.

Whitfield was captured at Madison, Wis. He made a spectacular escape from the police of that city. It is supposed he then went to Chicago and soon after to Detroit, where, aside from assuming the name of Sam DeCarlo, he made no effort at disguise.

The Price girl was said to be with her mother at Port Wayne, Ind.

Whitfield's deserted wife said today she was sorry her husband had been captured. She said the police had done their duty the killing would never have occurred if her husband was not a bad man.

She said she treated her well, as far as she could, and that she was sorry she had forgiven him for what he had done.

She said precautions were taken by the police here to prevent an other escape of the notorious Whitfield. A dozen policemen were stationed at the police station to guard him.

Whitfield's original arrest was on the charge of stealing spark plug. When Griffin went to his work, Whitfield followed him.

prohibiting the sale of liquor to minors.

Here are some estimates on the amount of liquor furnished Japanese between 1912 and 1922:

Sake (Japanese rice wine)—5,000,000 koku (1 koku is 39.7 gallons), made from 4,000,000 koku of rice valued at 1,000,000,000 yen (half a billion dollars).

Beer—420,000 koku valued at $30,000,000 ($15,000,000).

Wine and other intoxicants—60,000 koku; of these, importations are valued at $1,080,000 ($540,000).

Sake is made from the chief food of the Japanese people—rice. The use of rice for their wine manufacture, therefore, works a hardship on the people of Japan, particularly in seasons when the rice crop is bad. This, however, is merely a contributing cause to the interest in prohibition.

Credit for the growth of prohibition sentiment in Japan is due first of all to the American missionaries, and then to the aged founder of the movement among the Japanese people, Madame Kajiko Yajima.

Mme. Yajima, who is remembered in America because of her presentation at the Washington Arms Conference of a petition from thousands of Japanese women urging disarmament, organized the national Women's Christian Temperance Union of Japan in 1886. Her organization, which had forty members at that time, has been the forerunner of the present group of "dry" bodies, including the Japanese Temperance League.

Associated with Mme. Yajima, in addition to the American and British men and women who have aided in the spread of prohibition propaganda, are two eminent Japanese—Colonel Taro Ando, a former Japanese consul-general at Honolulu, and Sho Nemoto, M. P., a graduate of the University of Vermont, in America, in 1889, and the author of the first Japanese anti-liquor law.

One of the strongest anti-liquor parties yet organized in Japan came into being in 1917 when Professor Tamakichi Nakajima, Hampel Nagao and other influential Japanese started the National Prohibition League, with headquarters now at Tokio. The League is for the realization of an absolutely dry nation, is held to be above all religious sects, and is the "shock troops" of the nation's "dry" workers.
